As much as I find excuses to shop for new clothes I am also a self-professed beauty junkie. So with summer just around the corner I feel like that's reason enough to bring my beauty collection up-to-date.

Here are some of my favorite new obsessions that you are more than welcome to share with me:

I'm guessing that you don't change your makeup brushes nearly as often as you're supposed to. Yes, every five years is too long. Start fresh with Vox cosmetics brushes—the luxury brand for face, eye and lip that applies makeup evenly and feels great on my skin.

Tarte pressed powder blush in Hottie is not brand new but it's my latest obsession in the cheek department. The color may seem bold but once you apply it, your cheeks will have a nice rosy glow with a bit of shimmer.

I have to be really careful about using products that could potentially cause breakouts. LORAC's Oil-Free Neutralizer is made of aloe, comfrey and chamomile to cover up any imperfections and dark circles.

Any one of my closest friends will tell you that my signature scent is Stella from Stella McCartney, so I'm thrilled that her latest scent, Sheer Stella, is here just in time for spring and summer. It is just the right combination of all of my favorite smells.

From one beauty junkie to another, all I have to say is—how could you resist?
